

WORKFORCE HOUSING CREDIT ENHANCEMENT

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

The Workforce Housing (“WFH”) Program is an initiative of the Philadelphia Department of Planning and Development that seeks to promote the development of housing for moderate- and middle-income households (between 80%-120% of Area Median Income). The workforce housing credit enhancement (WFHCE) is available to support the financing of any workforce housing product within Philadelphia, for-sale or rental, that is built on land acquired from Philadelphia Redevelopment Authority (PRA), the Philadelphia Land Bank (PLB), Philadelphia Department of Public Property (DPP), Philadelphia Housing Development Corporation (PHDC), or Philadelphia Housing Authority (PHA).

PROGRAM TERMS

The terms of this program are as follows:

- Eligibility: Any for-sale or rental development that is located within Philadelphia, on a site that either entirely or partially includes land purchased from Philadelphia Redevelopment Authority (PRA), the Philadelphia Land Bank (PLB), Philadelphia Department of Public Property (DPP), Philadelphia Housing Development Corporation (PHDC), or Philadelphia Housing Authority (PHA), and that includes housing units that will be sold or rented to workforce-housing income-eligible households (see Income Qualification below).
 - The WFHCE may be used to guarantee a portion of a larger mixed-use or mixed-income project, so long as the WFHCE is only guaranteeing financing for the workforce housing portion of the project, calculated on a pro rata square footage basis.
 - The WFHCE may be used for projects where land acquired from the public-sector comprises just part of an assemblage; in this case, the WFHCE may cover the workforce housing portion of the entire project.
- Facility: Up to a twenty-five percent (25%) guarantee on secured construction loans of up to three-million dollars ($3,000,000) of construction debt (i.e., up to $750,000 of credit enhancement) for WFH projects, to be payable to the financial institution in event of default or nonpayment. One guarantee shall be available per project. If at any time the loan amount is reduced by payoff, forgiveness or otherwise, PRA’s guarantee will be reduced proportionately such that the guaranteed portion of the loan shall not to exceed 25% of the total secured loan amount. It shall be necessary for financial institutions, in order to enforce payment by the PRA under this facility, to exhaust their remedies against developers, any other guarantor of the construction loan, and any other person liable for payment or performance of such loan, including the liquidation of any assets or property securing the construction loan, prior to demanding payment or proceeding against the PRA under this program.
- Purchaser: The purchaser of the WFHCE shall be the construction lender. The WFHCE facility may be assigned, with the consent of PRA, if the construction loan is sold, assigned, or refinanced.
- Term: Up to 24 months, with up to one (1) twelve (12) month extension.

- Price: PRA will charge a one-time fee equal to 150bps on the value of the guarantee, payable at time of origination for the initial 24-month term. The twelve (12) month extension term will incur an additional fee of 50bps on the total remaining exposure at time of renewal. Renewal is subject to PRA approval. Any fees will be refunded if the construction loan fails to go to settlement.
- Underwriting: PRA shall review the project, credit-worthiness of the developer, and terms and conditions of the lender, and may at its sole discretion approve or decline applications.
- Lender Requirements: Including the PRA's portion of the exposure, financial institutions utilizing this facility must provide at least 85% LTC (or replacement cost).
- Income Qualification: For this purpose, income eligibility is based on the Philadelphia-Camden-Wilmington-PA-NJ-DE-MD MSA Area Median Income (AMI). For homeownership projects, units must be sold at a price point whereby the PITI payment (including insurance and taxes) on a mortgage, plus reasonable monthly utility bills do not exceed 30% of the income for a household earning at or below 120% of AMI. For rental product, units must be priced so that the rent plus any utilities and other passthrough costs that are billed to tenants do not exceed 30% of the income for a household earning at or below 100% of AMI. Occupants who subsequently become over-income may continue to reside in properties if they were income eligible at time of their initial lease signing. Properties that utilize the WFHCE shall be required to remain affordable to income qualified households as described above for a minimum of 15 years.
- Restrictive Covenants: Public entities in Philadelphia will typically dispose properties for redevelopment as workforce housing with a Declaration of Restrictive Covenants recorded against the property requiring the affordability restriction for a certain period and under certain terms expressed in the Declaration. A separate Declaration will not be recorded by the public sector in connection with the WFHCE.
- Right to Audit and Penalties: The PRA maintains the right to audit any project financed with the WFHCE anytime during the affordability period, to ensure that the property remains occupied by income qualified households. For properties that are deemed to be in noncompliance PRA shall provide a reasonable cure period, following which if the property is still in noncompliance PRA may charge the current property owner a fee equal to the amount of credit enhancement provided by the WFHCE.
- Termination: The WFHCE facility will immediately terminate if the construction loan is terminated, refinanced, or converted to permanent debt without express consent of PRA for assignment of the WFHCE.
